Rachel Mansted

Rachel's practice involves a mixture of led work, including in complex and high profile litigation, as well as appearing unled in interlocutory and final hearings. She has experience in the High Court, Federal Court, Supreme Court and Court of Appeal, as well as in the District Court, Local Court, and various tribunals and commissions of inquiry.

She is regularly briefed by top tier firms and boutique practices to act for public and private corporations, as well as private individuals. Rachel has approved NSW, ACT and Commonwealth government rates and has appeared for government departments and agencies.

Rachel accepts briefs in all areas, and has a particular interest in the following areas of law:

- Administrative and public law
- Class actions and regulatory investigations
- Commercial law
- Corporations law and insolvency
- Equity
- Public and private international law
- Trade and transport law
